

THE CONTINENTAL COR. 15TH AND DOUGLAS STS. An Underwear Sensation 50 CENTS A GARMENT. Saturday morning we place on sale a large lot of Men's Fine Winter Weight Underwear, bought late in the season, at 50c on the dollar. Suits handsomely trimmed with silk and self-finished fronts. This is an opportunity to own these goods at less than the cost of the raw material. Mail orders accompanied by cash will be filled Monday.

Continental Clothing Co.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS

kill. Geest and his bondsman appeared before Judge Christian last night and gave $1,500 bail, pending a preliminary hearing on February 25. All the packing houses and the stock yards are now connected with the big thirty-inch water main. The pressure at the stock yards office stands steady at sixty pounds now. The new main was laid the day before yesterday to run down as low as twenty-five pounds. Manager Foster of the Swift company intends to make a test of his fire pumps and fire fighting apparatus in a few days.

Duck's Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, letter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all other eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Kuhn & Co.

For Sale—Quantity old bricks, lumber, doors, windows, etc. Apply at Associated Charities, 807 Howard street. Phone, 1646.

We Will Give You a Check for your baggage at the time you buy your ticket and arrange to have our wagon call and take your trunk to the train. No trouble at the depot. All you have to do is to get aboard. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry. City ticket office, 1504 Farnam St.

545 P. M. A quarter to six. The new "Omaha-Chicago Special," via the Northwestern line, arriving at Chicago next morning at a quarter of nine, 8:45 a. m. City ticket office, 1401 Farnam street.

COMFORT TO CHICAGO. Only one way to be SURE you will have it—TAKE THE BURLINGTON'S "VESTIBULE FLYER."

Quite the Thing Socially to have it known you are going east via THE NORTHWESTERN LINE, OMAHA-CHICAGO SPECIAL. The fine fact and discrimination displayed in the furnishings and equipment, the convenient hours and fast time, and the fact that it is an exclusive with Omaha people.

1504 Farnam Street. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway ticket office.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heckman of Fairmont are hotel guests.

GET DIPLOMAS AS TEACHERS. Graduating Exercises of the Omaha Training School. AN EVEN DOZEN NEW INSTRUCTORS. Boyd's Theater Crowded to Listen to Essays and Sermons—Reading of Papers. Following are the superintendents' addresses.

Forty young women, all dressed in robes of the purest white, occupied the stage at Boyd's theater last night. Twelve of them, Florence Viola Brown, Alice Mary Craig, Annette DeBolt, Clara S. Davenport, Jessie Cameron Giddens, Katherine Marie Jones, Sarah King, Neva A. Shepherd, Louise Phelps Salmon, Maria C. Valentine, Edith Alsworth Waterman and Bertha Blanche Williamson, were graduating from the Omaha Teachers' Training school, while the others were members of the class that will graduate next year.

The seating capacity of the house was taxed by the friends of the young women, and those who were interested in educational affairs. The principal of the school, Mrs. T. K. Sutherland, had complete charge of the exercises, and she was met with a feeling of considerable satisfaction that she acknowledged the applause that greeted the appearance of the young women, who have been under her charge.

Most of the members of the Board of Education occupied seats upon the stage, and apparently felt a decided interest in the proceedings. During the course of the exercises they watched and listened with marked attention, frequently joining in the applause.

After the singing of "Life Time Eyes" by the members of the school, Miss Williamson read an essay, entitled, "Some Elements of the Teacher's Influence." In discussing this subject she said:

"The teacher is engaged in the formation and development of the character of those entrusted to her care. Her influence is very powerful. She is often the child's ideal, so it is not unnatural that it should try to imitate her. For this reason it is essential that she be a good model as it is in her power to be.

"What is received through the sense of sight is earliest imitated, so the dress and personal appearance of the teacher should have special attention. Since the sense of hearing is no less potent, the voice and expression are equally important.

"To inspire with a desire for learning, cheerfulness should be carefully cultivated. But probably the teacher's most powerful ally is love for the pupils, and for the work, thus creating a sympathy between teacher and taught, which cannot be of value to both.

The next number on the program was a piano solo by Miss Craig, after which Miss Cosdo read an essay, entitled "Children's Falsehoods." Miss Cosdo said that the reason why more children told falsehoods was the fear of punishment. This was true in seventy-five out of 100 cases. Others were told by children who were afraid to report. In illustration of this point Miss Cosdo cited an instance where one boy told his teacher that he had been kicked by a dog, and was caught in the lie, the boy explained that it was not everyone who could be kicked.

Although there had been an order of "No flowers" issued, Miss Cosdo's receipt of a beautiful bouquet of roses, sent up from the body of the house.

The song, "Rest Thee on this Morn'g Pleasant," was sung by the school, after which Miss Waterman recited "Visions of Sir Launcelot," in a most delightful manner, eliciting hearty applause.

The catechism examination, a recitation class, in illustration of school work, pleased and amused the audience.

The song, "Rest Thee on this Morn'g Pleasant," was sung by the school, after which Miss Waterman recited "Visions of Sir Launcelot," in a most delightful manner, eliciting hearty applause.

"SORROWS OF CHILDHOOD." The vocal solo, which was followed by an essay, "Sorrows of Childhood," by Miss Morse. The essay was introduced by the remark that the sorrows of childhood, and sorrow and childhood, are apparently unrelated, still children undoubtedly do have their heartaches as well as pessimists and pessimists.

George and his wife, who were followed by an essay, "Sorrows of Childhood," by Miss Morse. The essay was introduced by the remark that the sorrows of childhood, and sorrow and childhood, are apparently unrelated, still children undoubtedly do have their heartaches as well as pessimists and pessimists.

After the singing of "Homeward Bound" by the school, Superintendent Pearce of the public schools addressed the class. He said in part:

"The studies which have been well learned and are supposed to be sufficient for any emergency will somehow seem to come short of your needs, and you must be ready to grasp the new situation; to meet the needs of the moment, and to adopt new means, to form new plans, and to go to the heart of the matter, and to do it. You have thought and about which you have planned in your preparation. The actual work in the school room will bring so many tests of your ability to grasp a new situation and to act promptly and with judgment that you will need to approach the work with an absence of that feeling of complacency which they may have many of these things brought to them, and so far as you can manage your own affairs.

With your fellow teachers upon terms of mutual helpfulness. Do not expect them all to be perfect, or to agree with you in everything. Do not expect them to help you do your work. Do not expect them to take more interest in your affairs than they do in their own. Be reasonable, be good tempered, be obliging, and it is very unlikely that they will have many disposed to be otherwise.

DEALING WITH PARENTS. "With the parents of your pupils be reasonable, and try always to be upon good terms."

HAYDEN BROS. Values Without Precedent—See the Goods. CLOTHING. That sale of men's, boys' and children's suits and overcoats beginning to assume monumental proportions. Men's $10 to $25 suits, overcoats and jackets for tomorrow at phenomenal price of $5.00, $8.50 and $12.50. Boys' piece suits and jackets at $2.50 to $7.50 suits, including fancy junior and refer suits, choice tomorrow at $1.25, $2.50 and $5.00.

Of the year people are looking for bargains—The careful buyer will note that the place which is selling at close prices in the busy season is likely to give the greatest values in the dull season of the year—A store like ours cannot afford to carry over stock from one season to another. It pays us better to sacrifice what there is left and begin every season with new goods. We have in every department something which must be closed out and in this case cost or value is not considered.

Nebraska Clothing Co. Spring catalogue ready next week. Send name and address.

HAYDEN BROS. Several Suggestions Regarding Next Assessment Work. The Fifth Ward Improvement club met at Erling's hall last evening to discuss taxes and assessments for the coming year.

Teeth the Same Day. Impression taken in morning; new teeth before dark. SET TEETH, $5.00.

DR. BAILEY, Dentist, 16th and Farnam Sts. 3rd Floor Paxton Block. Tel. 108. Lady attendant.

CREAM BAKING POWDER. Most Perfect Made. Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair, 'DR.'

PENNYROYAL PILLS. Chamberlain's Remedy for Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, etc.